Paper Format

One instrument · Reading, Use of English and Writing · 50 marks

Part	Questions	What it tests	Marks
1	1–5	Short texts — a notice, a message, an advertisement, a label, an email	5
2	6–9	Lexico-grammar — gap-fill inside a short text	4
3	10–14	Comprehension of one longer text	5
4	15–20	Text matching — four short texts against six questions	6
5	21–25	Word completion — spelling and vocabulary	5

7	27	Notes expansion — a longer email or letter, 60–80 words	15
Total		27 questions	50

Suggested time plan

Stage	Minutes	Why
Parts 1–5 (reading & use of English)	40	25 marks. Every question is worth one mark, so do not spend three minutes on any single one.
Part 6 (30–50 words)	12	2 min plan · 7 min write · 3 min check
Part 7 (60–80 words)	20	4 min plan · 12 min write · 4 min check
Spare	3	Count your words again and fix capital letters and full stops.

READ THIS NUMBER TWICE

25 of the 50 marks — exactly half the paper — are the two writing questions. Turn to Part 6 and Part 7 first, read both tasks, then go back and start Part 1. Your brain will quietly plan the writing while you do the reading, and you will never run out of ideas when you reach the last page.

THE WORD COUNT IS A RULE, NOT A SUGGESTION

Part 6 must be 30–50 words. Part 7 must be 60–80 words. Answers that are too short lose content marks because they cannot cover every bullet point. Answers that are far too long lose language marks because the mistakes pile up. Count your words before you put your pen down — count in groups of ten and put a light dot above every tenth word.

Reading: Saving the Environment

Many schools in Malaysia have started recycling programmes to protect the environment. Students collect used paper, plastic bottles, and old newspapers every month. The materials are sent to a recycling centre nearby. Last year, SK Taman Indah collected more than 500 kilogrammes of recyclable items. The money earned from selling the materials was used to buy books for the school library. Teachers also encourage students to bring their own water bottles instead of buying bottled drinks. These small actions, when done together, can make a big difference to our environment.

1. What do students collect for the recycling programme?

2. How much did SK Taman Indah collect last year?

3. What was the money used for?

4. What do teachers encourage students to bring?

5. Why are these actions important, according to the passage?
