NEW WIRELESS iPod DOCK

Hooking up an iPod to a stereo is easy – unless you still navigate using the iPod menu. For that, you will need something such as the Denon ASD-3W.

This dock lets users attach an iPod to a sound system, operate the iPod with a remote and view its menu on a TV screen.

For good measure, it will also let you link up your computer to the stereo wirelessly and listen to the Internet radio.

8. The phrase 'hooking up' can best be replaced With

A. mixing
B. locking
C. connecting

Questions 19 to 26

You are going to read an extract about the Malaysian night market. For questions 19 to 26, choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D).

Pasar malam is a Malay word that literally means 'night market', Pasar malam is a street market set up in the evening, usually in residential neighbourhoods. It brings together a collection of stalls that usually sell goods such as fruits, vegetables, food, toys, clothes, shoes, alarm clocks and ornaments at cheap or at least, reasonable prices. You can get almost anything at these night markets.

Pasar malam traders rotate around different neighbourhoods on different days of the week. Prices are not fixed and as such haggling over prices is a common practice at such markets. The market starts off slowly and as early as three in the afternoon. Traders often try to nab the favoured spot, set up stalls and put their goods on display. Within a short time, the pace increases and the space that used to be a formal, quiet car park or residential area is now a bustling marketplace with varying smells, colours, noise and people.

The whole area is transformed and you can see people young and old alike weaving in and out of the stalls, occasionally stopping to look at the items on display and to find out the price of an item. Smells adrift all around the market, the smell of nasi lemak, fried chicken, fried noodles and other types of food, and many people cannot resist the temptation to buy something for their dinner. The place is rackety, with people calling and laughing, machines humming and pumping, all with a purpose.

As you squeeze through the crowd, the first thing that catches your attention is the many fruit and vegetable stalls. The colourful fruits and the lush and plentiful vegetables are all arranged beautifully and customers are spoilt for choice. You have an array of local and imported fruits to choose from. Even the prices are displayed and all you have to do is pick out the fruits you want and pay without even saying a word. If you are not pleased with the price quoted, you can always move to the next stall. If you are not into vegetables and fruits, then head to the fish and meat stalls. Here, you can buy a whole chicken or cut pieces to suit your taste. The meat is fresh and succulent and looks full of flavour. A variety of fresh fish can be bought here and the trader will even take the trouble to clean it for you for free.

Walk further on and you will see the clothes stalls. The clothes are reasonably priced and of the latest fashion. It caters to the young and old. Clothing items such as pyjamas, T-shirts, pants, batik housecoats, dresses, shirts, undergarments and even shoes can be bought here. The prices are not fixed and if something catches your eye, you can ask for the price and try to get a reduction. Flexibility is the key here. There is no hard and fast rule for prices.

Finally, a visit to the night market will not be complete if you do not head to the various food stalls. You have Western and local cakes, banana fritters, laksa, fried noodles and numerous other kinds of food to suit your taste buds. Most of the food on sale is freshly cooked. After you have placed your order, you need to wait a few minutes to get your order No service charges at all. A simple meal at a reasonable and affordable price! What more can we ask for? You get your money's worth here and there is no room for complaints and dissatisfaction.

It takes only thirty to forty minutes to walk around the whole market. It is time well spent. Not only do you get to buy things cheaply but you can also enjoy the environment and take note of the myriad of people who throng the night markets. The night markets in Malaysia are a big draw, bringing together both tourists and locals. It is, after all, a great place to just walk about and savour the aromas of local street delicacies and buy items at reasonable prices.

You are going to read an article about a popular online game. Six sentences have been removed from the article. Choose from the sentences A to H the one which fits each gap (27 to 32). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use.

Player Unknown's Battlegrounds (PUBG)

Player Unknown's Battlegrounds (PUBG) is an online multiplayer battle royale game developed and published by PUBG Corporation, a subsidiary of South Korean video game company, Bluchole, 27. [ ] In the game, up to one hundred players parachute onto an island and scavenge for weapons and equipment to kill others while avoiding getting killed themselves. Players can choose to enter the match solo, as a duo, or with a small team of up to four people.

The plane's flight path across the map varies with each round, requiring players to quickly determine the best time to eject and parachute to the ground, 28. [ ] These items are procedurally distributed throughout the map at the start of a match, with certain high-risk zones typically having better equipment.

29. [ ] This means that surviving players are directed to tighter areas to force encounters. During the course of the match, random regions of the map are highlighted in red and bombed, posing a threat to players who remain in that area. At the completion of each round, players gain in-game currency based on their performance. 30. [ ] The last player or team standing wins the round.

31. [ ] The game has sold over 70 million copies on personal computers and game consoles as of 2020. PUBG has received positive reviews from critics, who found that while the game had some technical flaws, it presented new types of game play that could be easily approached by players of any skill level. The game has been attributed to popularising the battle royale genre, with a number of unofficial Chinese clones also being produced following its success. 32. [ ] PUBG Corporation has run several small tournaments and introduced in-game tools to broadcast the game to spectators, as they wish for it to become a popular e-sport. On a side note, the game has also been banned in some countries for allegedly being harmful and addictive to younger players.

We interviewed six ardent readers from the Synergy book Club. Read the texts below and answer the questions that follow.

A-Joyce- ALL AROUND THE TOWN by Mary Clark I have always preferred detective novels and this author is one of the best in this category. The novel starts with Laurie Kenyon, a college student, who is accused of murdering her professor. She has no memory of the crime and seeks help from a psychiatrist. The story revealed by the psychiatrist about Laurie takes a twisted turn and will hold your attention till the end.
B-Alina- A THOUSAND SPLENDID SUNS by Khaled Hosseini This award-winning bestseller by Khaled Hosseini really touched my heart. I cried while reading it as it was just so moving. Set in Kabul, Mariam befriends Laila. Their friendship known no bounds and overcomes the most daunting obstacles in a beautiful and heroic way.
C- Bob- AND THEN THERE WERE NONE by Agatha Christie This book, by the world-renowned Queen of Crime, is by far the best mystery I have ever read. I just had to stay up the whole night till I was done! The story is full of twists, as expected from Christie. Mysterious invitations, disappearing guests, an island amidst a thunderstorm, murders following a nursery rhymes all intricately woven to thrill the readers until the end.
D- Su Yin- PERCY JACKSON AND THE LIGHTNING THIEF by RIck Riordan I wanted to read the book first before watching the movie adaptation. I was mesmerized by the novel as if offered so much. Adventure, myths, Greek gods, magic, legends and so much more. I was totally captivated till the end.
E- Amy- WHITE FANG by Jack London Being neither a dog nor a wolf, White Fang faces trouble finding his place in the world. He learns to survive and defend himself. I love how White Fang is changed from savage beast to a gentle, wise animal by the kindness of one man. It really is an inspiring story.
F- Joey- HARRY PORTER AN THE CURSED CHILD by J.K. Rowling I have enjoyed all the books in the Harry Porter series and this is the last one. I spent two days reading it till the end. I am so happy to finally get closure about Harry and his family. This book is magical, just like the others!
